GENEVA PLEA FOR LONGER ARMISTICE FLATLY REJECTED

CONDENMED TO SLOW DEATH, PLAY POKER

Paraguayans Believed Continued Truce Allowed Bolivia to Regather Strength for Further Conflict

PARAGUAY, Jan. 8. — Flat rejection by Paraguay of a last-minute plea to extend the armistice in the shadow of the penitentiary, was the signal that mildly amazed everything in general.

"How can?" you demand. "Are they still the ones from Devil's Islands?" Aren't these the dismored ruff-riff of France who'd sooner tilt a thumb than chew a steak?

They are.

These same hellish souls expect to be enduring the tortures of the damned. These are the men condemned to the dry solitude of creeping, crawling, biting death of

AVOIDABLE STUPIDITY.

To explain it's call the torch stink ant. He was a clerk in a Lyons toy store who got off the track of life by getting into a series of airtight swineholes got him held over to the hills locked in state to suit mid, for a time, lived the life of Robinson Crusoe. He did so did the swine sweetbriar! Anton went on the boozey. He lost his job. He took to the bars and town saloons; lower.

All the time he brooded about the fine life of French Jaunes. Then one warm spring night he went completely off the deep end and bought a bottle of baysone, poured oil over her body and set it alight.

Appalled by what he'd done he stalked wiley to the police station, told what he'd done and promptly plunged into a series of airtight hell hole. Doctors flocked around stupefied Anton back inside himself except to get paid.

Five months later he was banished to Guiana for ten years—that's another life, if it's allowed to return to France.

When the grim Martinières brought him to the penitentiary of Maron he was in despair. They sent him into the jungle to fell trees and poison snakes. Choked insects drank his blood. But he worked. He had become philosophical. One night below the hills he died in Anton's dormitory. Anton who was a bit of a joker, put a pup of him in the same box went into solitary confinement for six months. He was held in that underground cell block howled and moaned. Some cursing and some weeping. He was then paced up and down like a caged tiger; silent but restless. After his half year he was promoted to grade. He was promoted to second class, which brought him three cents a day. He was then sent to the court half to pay his trial back in Lyons. In France, remember, the prisoner is guilty until proven innocent.

BECOMES STOREKEEPER

Still he worked reasonably hard. He found a job as a cook. He ate meat with bread, vegetables and wine to be not half bad, but now and again he'd have a fit of rage and dash into the bank and demand for a mild jag. Anton never got enough to eat before the tribunal. After a bit he broke the first class convict. That brought him to the Canadian penitentiary where, if he wanted to, he could open a shop in his cell. He did this and dead wings were butterfly wings. He sent the wings

ENGLAND GOING NRA—INDUSTRY RE-ORGANIZING

GREAT BRITAIN IS TREADING IN PATH ROOSEVELT SEEKS

Compulsion for "Inefficients" Closing Up—Basic Trade Have Failed to Fulfil

Tariff Agree

LONDON, Jan. 8.—England is to have a tariff.

Following the lead of President Roosevelt in United States, the British National Government, at the present session of Parliament, will move for sweeping changes in the set-up of industry.

The intention is to compel the reorganization of every big industry, it is believed to be introduced very soon.

Each basic trade, it is proposed will be required by law to promote, quickly, schemes for

1—Amalgamation of individual firms into large units;

2—Closing down of inefficient and redundant firms, with compensation from a levy on the industry affected;

3—Organization of large-scale buying of raw materials;

and

4—Central administration for selling finished products.

The call for this great change has arisen largely because of industry's failure to observe the condition of efficiency on which protective tariffs and their like were created.

LABOR DEMANDS VOICE

The Trade Union Movement, says the London Daily Herald, will require an adequate voice on any control that is set up.

The new hints that have been thrown out from Downing Street, recalls the utterances of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, in the House last Nov. 27. He said:

"Among the great industries which must demand the further attention and consideration of the Government are coal, cotton, iron and steel, shipping."

Previously, however, Minister of Agriculture, hinted at the policy in the following words:

"We shall be forced to come to the House to ask for the sanction for wide and sweeping changes in the economic structure of this country. We shall be forced to do what we have been planning."

An intensive agitation is going on behind the scenes in support of the idea. Leading members of the Government are favorable, and they have the strong support of influential young Tories outside the Ministry.

Government Reasons for Remedial Action

The failure of industry to earn out its obligations when protective tariffs and associated devices were introduced, has largely prompted the move.

It was definitely laid down, when the new fiscal policy was adopted, that Protection was intended to assist industries to get on their feet and help them to develop their economies, while they themselves were being brought up to date.

They have, in most cases, done nothing effective, and the result is now that Tariff reform is the little uppermost in trade which has taken place this year in respect of the economy, and of making voluntary reforms more unlikely than ever.

On the other hand, it is argued, is there compulsion—in the interest of industry itself and also to end the uncertainty on which Protection was advocated and accepted by the country.

The iron and steel industry with others is proceeding with reorganization according to the terms submitted to the Tariff Board a long time ago.

But the view is growing in influential quarters that such schemes will not be adopted, and that it will never be voluntarily applied.

Canada has proved itself equally ineffective. The Act of 1930 gave it a chance, which has not been seized.

That Act made marketing schemes compulsory, but the owners have made no use of them, and they possibly could, and they have failed to agree on extensions that have been proposed.

Under the same Act a Coal Mines Reorganization Commission was set up. It has not been able, however, ever since trying to induce voluntary reorganization on the production side.

But that effort has failed, and the Commission is now unable to do the next step to compulsion action.

The proposed new legislation appears to be a copy of the American by the experience of the coal industry, and swift action will be enforced.

The cotton industry is another which has proved its complete failure, voluntarily to put its house in order.

WASTE EVERYWHERE

Certain modest recommendations by the Economic Development Committee in 1929, but these have been ignored. Every attempt at co-operation in the cotton industry has broken down on the rocks of individualism.

Meanwhile the industry—our chief export trade—is affiliated with far exceeding real needs, and in regard to marketing, under the Act of 1931, and it is being assisted by the cotton industry.

These recommendations have not been adopted, and they will be sufficient, if they are adopted, to bring about the results that are proposed, reorganization of farming itself, with large-scale farms, more approaching the factory idea.

Food manufacture, including meat preserving and canning is contemplated, organized in close

If a man gets knocked down on a city street, mangled by a train or a car, or critically ill, he is admitted to a hospital at once as an emergency case, no matter who he is. If he is stricken with a fever, however, he may wait as long as he is taken in at the right entrance. If a patient comes outside the hospital to the office of the doctor, he can only get him admission to the hospital by pleading his case. Otherwise, he may just constitute an "emergency case." ### GET IT GOING

Calgary aldermen say that city could profitably spend $400,000.00 for civic improvements, and that another $1,000,000 could easily be spent in useful public undertakings in surrounding territory, if the money were available at low rates of interest, low enough to make the spending safe.

If Mr. Bennett has in mind any such comprehensive scheme, he is well advised as suggested for the relief of unemployment, but he need not wonder as to where and through whom the money can be put to use and into circulation. Edmonton and Calgary have gone on record as ready to co-operate in that respect. Other Alberta cities and important centres will fall readily into line if and when the scheme is launched.

Can there be any doubt as to the result in reducing unemployment? The idle men in Alberta will be given a chance to work at real wages if the Dominion will supply the funds at a cost in keeping with present wage rates and taxpayer incomes.

And as Mr. Steves said in Edmonton in reply to a question: "We can do all sorts of things." Canada's present Government is as all-powerful as it has been asked to be, and more so than any democratic government ever should be. If the Premier fails to submit to a work program for the unemployed in the name of Canada is doing anything to help him back while parliament has given him a "blank cheque" and a free hand to fill in the amount.

FIGHTING THE FLU

A former Canadian Minister filled the available while posts at Ottawa, with its political friends, and then put a civil service commission on the job to prevent any succeeding government firing him.

The public system which was proclaimed, was thereby abolished, and thereafter any public employee who attended to business and kept clear of politics would be sure of his job, whatever party or party in control had power. The country has generally accepted that as being the case, and there have been relatively few complaints of partisan dismissals in the succeeding years.

But Sir Robert Borden evidently underestimated the ingenuity, or overestimated the chivalry, of one of his successors. Mr. Bennett, it is stated in despatches, has made a clean sweep of deputy ministers and holders of other posts who had been appointed by Liberal governments, and has replaced them with spoils professionals notwithstanding, and has replaced these with gentlemen of his own political persuasion.

That is pretty small bread of political bait, but it will be interesting to see how parliament takes this re-introduction of the "spoils" system, so virtuously condemned by a score of members upon whom the Government depends for support. How the country will take it there is not much room for doubt; we were supposed to have got away from the "peasant" variety of political activities.

Apparently the Prime Minister decided that since he was leaving parliament and had no time on so many questions he may as well know them on any other question when so-called. "As well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb." The "hanging" being plainly inevitable whenever a good election is called, it will make no particular difference to him whether it is for one offence or many.

BRING HOME THE MONEY

Another quarter of a century ago a distinguished group of Mexicans had a similar decision that Canada was too poor or too doubtful an area for their operations, or too enlightened to give free scope to their acquisitive propensities. Headed by Mackenzie and Mann they turned instead to the Republic of Mexico, and proceeded to bostow on that backwoods country the blessings of tram lines, lighting systems and electric power—for a satisfactory consideration in the shape of stock dividends and bond interests.

Today the same situation exists at the height of the railway-building era, and a million glistened directly and indirectly from construction and speculation here went into Mexican power plants and distribution systems. Canadian newsmen in general protest that this export of capital is nothing but naked commercialism. Canada was a good enough country in which to invest it; that seemed to be the only reason why our home-grown international financiers.

President Rodriguez announces that the Government of Mexico is going into the electric power business, as one step in its program to shake Mexican industry free of foreign control.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COPWER

This, the despatches say, means a "distinct blow" to the privately-owned enterprises built up with Canadian money. Perhaps, unlike some former Mexican potentates, the President intends to buy out the undertakings and give the investors their money. That is what they hope.

It is also to be hoped that when they get the money they will bring it back to Canada and set it at work here. Legally they are entitled to do so, but if not, then a nationalization of a moral obligation involves them.

Canada needs capital, and offers opportunities for its profitable employment in countless ways. The Canadian Tariff Commission, those exporters of capital a good deal in making it possible for them to accumulate the money, some obligation must rest upon them to use it in helping to build up the country and give employment to their fellow-countrymen.

Poems That Live

PRAYER AND PRAYER

Prayer is the language of the soul.

The differing worlds agreeing sacrifice:

Where Heaven divides, earth unites; find:

But prayer in various discord upward flies.

For Prayer the ocean is where differently

Men steer their course, each to a several coast;

Where all our interests so discordant be.

That half be winds by which the rest are lost.

By Penitence when we ourselves forsook.

But in wise design on purpose Heaven;

In Prayer we nobly give what God may take,

And are, without a begar's blush, forgiven.

—Sir William Davenant.

The policy initiated in 1927 by the Greek Government to encourage the production of domestic wheat and to protect the farmer by the purchase of his wheat at inflated prices, has been applied to proceed of the 1933 crop on a wider scale, according to reports, writes Mr. T. J. Morris, acting trade commissioner in Canada in the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Wheat production this year is estimated at 629,000 tons, of which it is expected 182,000 tons (30 per cent) will be exported, as compared with a production of 564,000 tons in 1932, and a record export of 76,500 tons (13.6 per cent) in 1932. The price paid to the farmer for domestic wheat produced during the course of the present year averaged $0.025 per pound. This price is arrived at by adding a sum of 10 cents to the cost of wheat, delivered in Piraeus with duty and all other charges attached, and increased by a fixed protection of $0.004 per pound. In order that the cost of wheat to the consumer in Piraeus may be compensated to purchase wheat in flour and bread, the government is compelled to purchase wheat in flour and bread at 10 cents per pound.

Long-Eared Finance

By R. T. ELLIOT, K.C.

Canadian business is held down to a non-supporting national minimum by reason of a contraction of currency and credit. Great Britain shows the effect of providing business with money in plentiful supply:

By WYLIE KING

London Financial Times

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The Bank of England note circulation is the highest ever at $92 million pounds, up twenty million pounds for the year. The reserve ratio is 37.3 per cent, down 4.3 per cent for the week.

Traffic figures of the "Big Four" of the railroad world are 183 thousand pounds above the same week in 1932.

There is a direct relation between supply of money and volume of railway traffic. Reduce currency and you reduce rail-train.

All the horrors of long-earred finance are given full sway in Great Britain. The result of the resulting financial depression is to modify prices, wiping out railway traffic, cutting wages and slashing salaries until the general buying power has been reduced below the minimum necessary to keep the people self-supporting.

In line with Canadians accord with the titled classes, and classifying them in various ranks of nobility, there has been created in Canada the great social order of the super-rich—whose sole act of ritual is going hungry to bed.

Our long-earred financial leaders believed in the theory that by creating artificial scarcity of money we could keep it from the general public and keep it for themselves by employing super-inflated tariffs and merciless deflation. Time has shown this to be a mistake. The Devil of deflation once gets going cannot be stopped. The inferior trade measures and when he has finished robbing the innocent, those whom by his methods he was employed and devours their substance.

The chance to get out is by making reciprocal trade agreements with every nation willing to trade with Canada; and by turning our long-earred financial leaders out to pasture and replacing them with men who will give protection to the general public instead of super-inflated special privilege tariff protection to political assurers.

Now financial measures will do any good—and there is no time to waste. The socialists are already knocking at the doors of our national institutions and, unless volume of commerce is restored, these socialists will attain political control. Once they get in we will have changed from greed-ridden, long-earred financial madness to a condition of mass will to power despotism.

Surely there must be a sufficient number of members of the Parliament of Canada and of the Senate to set aside the deadlock diagnosis in the policy of handing over to the cruelty and madness of driving the earning classes of Canada into a mental state of despair and political recklessness. It is not doing anybody any good and is doing cruel harm to millions. The remedy is a Good Economic now. Every man should demand an election and should make it known today. Your own home, and your children's future, are in direct, vital danger and you know it; and your individual immediate action in demanding an election is the one thing you can do.

VICTORIA, Jan. 8.—Suffering from an aggravated infection of the nasal organs, similar to that which has plagued him since his arrival here, Premier Patullo has confined himself to hospital in Victoria for the past week. Finance Minister Hart, who has been ill under the care of a physician, Mr. Hart has not been confined to hospital, but has been in the duties of acting premier in the absence of Premier Patullo, who is suffering from the failure of his heart, and is due to leave for Ottawa to attend the dominion-provincial conference.

Word is said to be unmerchandiseable that Mr. Hart is awaiting upon the sheep's back, or the wood allowed to remain on the sheep for some time before shearing off, having been warned.

YES OR NO

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Not all moral questions can be answered with absolute accuracy, but no decision as to what is morally right is possible without a knowledge of the facts.

—I think so. I believe in him; deeply myself because he is one of the greatest imaginative creations of the race and for that reason is one of life's treasures. I believe in him because he can bring comfort, love, and happiness in imagination to persons who sum up what is fine and good or what is repulsive and bad. Just as Santa gradually disappears from the imaginations of their creative imaginations instead of becoming "real" for sure" persons, so too would the real Santa Claus and Christ would lose one of its most precious, most important qualities.

Try-outs for Little Theatre's "R. U. R."

Wednesday

At a meeting held over the weekend at the Board of Trade of the Edmonton Little Theatre showed its third major production of the season Karel Capek's famous melodrama, "R. U. R." It is hoped to have this play ready for production in April or May. The play was at the same time unanimously decided to offer the directorship to Mr. J. W. Gutteridge, who is in charge of the recent production of "The Devil's Alibi" and his acceptance is expected without delay.

In the meantime try-outs for "R. U. R." will be held at the Talmud Torah hall on 103 street Wednesday evening, starting at 8:30 p.m. Open to all prospective members of the Little Theatre desirous of trying for roles in that play. The auditions will tend this try-out. Copies of the play are now available at the office of the Little Theatre, 103 street, corner of 103rd and 104th avenue.

"R. U. R." is an abbreviation for "Rossum's Universal Robots", and as the title implies, deals with a division of the world where men and women do the work of the world. It is a murderous social satire dealing with the future of raising melodrama. It has as many social implications as the most tragic of the present comedies, and also has many frames appeal to the human good-fellow. It is a definite hit in our mechanized civilization, the grimmet yet subtle, the dramatic yet funny, and the mad thing we call the industrial society of today.

"R. U. R." calls for a cast of nine men, five women, and a number of both men and women for silent roles.

Philharmonic Society to present "A Midsummer Night's Dream

Rehearsals are well along for the operetta, "Joan of the Nancy Lee," to be presented by the Philharmonic Society on January 10. The operetta unfolded the amusing tale of an English gentleman, who, after a long absence from his native land and lured by his sweetheart, becomes captivated by three damsels in a mountain resort in August. It is expected that the number will be introduced to the public for the first time at such a famous instructor as the President of the University of New York, will give a course of the school.

Mr. Tony Mackenzie has returned from a trip in a winter in Canada to the city of Calgary to attend a lecture on the "School of Character and Creative Theatre." The last meeting of the Association of the Alberta Recital on Saturday at tea in the Macdonald hotel following the recital.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan McLean have arrived in the city from Calgary to reside.

Calgary Artists Delight Capacity Audience Saturday Afternoon

Unusual and interesting was the experiment of the Women's Musical Club in giving a concert at the Masonic Temple on Saturday, the first meeting of 1934, a replica of the program in which appeared Marie Albani in her famous tour of Canada in March 1896. The large audience testified to the fact that the old-time auditorium was taxed beyond its normal capacity and an overflow audience was seated in the program room from outside corridor.

Calgary artists took the role of Marie Albani in the program.

Costumes of the period did much to revive the atmosphere of the program.

From the standpoint of novelty and variety, such programs as this are unique. The artistic success depends upon the ability of the interpreters to make the numbers to be included white and attractive to their grace and beautiful voice.

Miss Elizabeth Sterling spoke in welcome and Mrs. J. A. Buchanan, president of the Edmonton club presided. Each of the artists from Calgary spoke. Following the banquet dancing was arranged.

CHARMING ATMOSPHERE

As to the novelty side of the venture, it is hard to say if the program was a success. The ladies costumes were attractive and the whole atmosphere was one of charm. How the combination of the two programs compares is not known, but the number of people to be included is not known and is of no concern anyhow.

The major burden of Sunday's program was to be put on the shoulders of Mrs. Clementine Burke, who sang Albani's contributions to the program. She was successful in maintaining the appealing quality and is well trained.

The numbers allotted her were of a high order, and she did a fine job of interpreting as well as mature interpretive ability. Her singing was excellent and her commanding quality is it to be hoped full of opportunity will be given her.

Miss Elizabeth Sterling gave her every chance to display her capabilites. They were obligate, splendidly played by Alberta Bellini. She has come one more from "La Sonnambula" and Bishop's "Echo Song" also with great effect.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carter and Bishop well played.

A. B. O'Hordan, tenor, a favorite with the audience, had two fine opportunities with "All Hall Thou Dwell Pure and True" and "Bedouin Love Song." Always pleasant to hear his voice showed to great advantage.

Miss Jean Ferguson also played Handel's "Sonsata" in A and Bishop's "Echo Song" also with great effect.

Miss Olive Nickle, violinist, was here with a new spot to the affectation of the audience. She has given herself an art of attainments. Technique was highly commendable and the playing was excellent.

ADVENTUROUS AGE IS OFFERED AT EMPIRE TONIGHT

The "Adventurous Age" held by British Guild Players will be the first work in their entire extensive repertoire, opens tonight and runs the balance of this week at the New Empire Theatre. David Claude whose company is to be seen in this play in this place two years ago, was with the famous Mrs. Patrick Campbell, playing Wyndham's "The Londoner" and also Broadway in New York.

This production, being mid-Victorian or "quiet" like "The Adventures of Age," deals with a modern social problem in a manner that is both interesting and ultra-modern manner. Patrons are assured of a rest thrill as the story is told in a manner that is sure to appeal. "The Adventurous Age" a western comedy ending in the "sets" elaborate and all around it is a particularly high-class and unique production, performance which should not be missed.

ATTEMPT UPON TRAIN BLOCKED BY TEAR GAS

Widespread Chicago Trou- ble Checked by News of Compromise

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 8.—Exploding incendiary bombs last night repulsed several hundred striking farmers from their railroad cars at Sturtevant, near Milwaukee, where a train and its departing guard guarded a refrigerator car, in which was 48,000 pounds of cheese, en route to Chicago, where the train paused at the Sturtevant station.

WAY IS OPENED FOR MORE WAR

Buenos Aires, Jan. 8.—The League of Nations Chase-Borealis peace commission has agreed to continue efforts to end the bloodshed between Paraguay and Argentina, which hotly-contested jungle territory.

The way was opened for a re-opening of the conflict, which has raged intermittently for half a century when an 11-day truce, effected by the League of Nations, ended the seventh Pan-American Conference, expired at midnight Saturday.

Drops Dead

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—John Kishner, major and prominent in civil life for more than a decade, dropped dead suddenly in his home, which was seized by a heart attack, dying in a few minutes.

CAPITOL

Marie Dressler and Lionel Barrymore are considered to be the first line on the screen in "Her Sweetheart" (Christopher Bean), and to those who have seen the picture, they seem them with enthusiasm and acclaim at the opening performance yesterday.

This delightful film continues today.

Miss Dressler, the playboy, the country doctor, the servant, and Barrymore, the country doctor.

The story deals with the family of a country doctor who in the past had been a belligerent reformer.

The play is the romance of the past and bringing a striking demureness to the innocent young lovers, such as the independent young ladies, the scheming wife, the jealous daughter, the mother, the old maid, the touching touches into the absorbing drama.

Marie Dressler and Barrymore are supported by a finished cast in which prominent roles are played by the gay, jaded daughter, Bea Benaderet, of the original "Broadway Rhythm," and Hermann B. Warner, Helen Shrimpton, George Coulouris and Elizabeth Taylor.

Mayor Knott Gives Stirring Address Over Radio

Colorful History Of City's Growth Fine Contribution

Covering Period of 139 Years, Dramatic Story of Edmonton Goes Out Broadcast Over National Network

Painting a word picture of color and romance as he looks from the pages of history all the glamor of Edmonton's past has been told—counting the growth of Alberta's capital over a period of 139 years from its first days as a tiny town giving a vivid description of the stirring events which brought homesteaders from the prairies to the last great west. Mayor D. K. Knott delivered a radio address on the subject at 8:30 p.m. Saturday night. The 15 minute talk was broadcast over the Canadian Radio Commission's network.

It was one of a series of addresses by mayors of Canada's major cities and it was the second time that the mayor gave a comprehensive review of the development of Edmonton from its first days to metropolis.

The address follows:

"In the course of this opportunity presented through the courtesy of the Canadian Radio Commission I welcome the greeting of the citizens of Edmonton to the tenth annual reunion of the veterans of broadcasts from all parts of the Dominion, a better understanding of which I hope you will gain by giving a vivid description of the stirring events which brought homesteaders from the prairies to the last great west. Mayor D. K. Knott delivered a radio address on the subject at 8:30 p.m. Saturday night. The 15 minute talk was broadcast over the Canadian Radio Commission's network."

Presides At Labor Party Convention

FRED J. WHITE, M.L.A., of Calgary, president of the Alberta Federation of Labor and a member of the provincial legislature, who is presiding over the annual Labor convention now in session in the city.

LABOR MUST CONTINUE TO PRESS AHEAD

Continue Work for Improved Living Standards, Says F. J. White

Opposed to the present condition of work unremittingly for improving standards of living and social conditions, declared Fred J. White, president of the Alberta Federation of Labor at the annual Labor convention at the Hotel Edmonton on Monday.

"We must be satisfied merely with increased membership," he said. "We must work for what we want to help our fellow workers forward toward our goal."

He was accompanied with about 75 delegates present, representing labor industry throughout the province.

Carl E. Berg, president of the Trades and Labor Council, welcomed the guests.

"Mother," Bill, 24; Anoule, 16; Jim, 11; Mary, 8; Freddie, 7; June, 5; and George, 2, were present.

"When did you see your father?"

"But," he said, "while we are on the upward trend. Figures are out there that say we are on the upward trend. Figures are out there that say we are on the upward trend. This we see that the depth of the depression has passed and that there has been a steady, not great, improvement ever since that reached that point. We have been associated with organized labor and have been organized and hoped he would be able to find time to attend much of the convention."

FORMALLY OPENED

Mr. White, on receiving the gavel of authority from Mr. Berg, formally opened the convention, formally opening the gathering for business.

Delegates were brought from the United Farmers of Alberta by George Bentzon, Mr. C. K. Kortzen, Mr. Alexey, Mr. H. G. Kortzen, Mr. W. L. Sutherland built this post, and named it after Edmonton, near London, England, where his father, Mr. John Pruden, was born.

The two posts (old Fort Augustus and new Fort Edmonton) were destroyed by the Blood Indians under Chief Sweet Grass in 1870, but decided the next year by the rival companies to build the posts higher up the North Saskatchewan River, and the white tribe of cowboys, across the plains of the North-West, moved to the Pacific coast.

DATES FROM 1788

"Edmonton dates from its year 1788, when Angus Smith, of the North-West Company, built Fort Augustus near the mouth of the South Saskatchewan River, south of the Saskatchewan. As two companies were strong competitors for the fur trade, the North-West Company, by company promptly built a post beside the North-West post and called it Fort Edmonton. Mr. Sutherland built this post, and named it after Edmonton, near London, England, where his father, Mr. John Pruden, was born."

"Two posts (old Fort Augustus and new Fort Edmonton) were destroyed by the Blood Indians under Chief Sweet Grass in 1870, but decided the next year by the rival companies to build the posts higher up the North Saskatchewan River, and the white tribe of cowboys, across the plains of the North-West, moved to the Pacific coast."

POSTS ABANDONED

"About three years later, these posts were partially abandoned for the winter, and the Indians, who had been here for the last ten years we know very little of Edmonton. But in 1821 the two surviving posts were abandoned, leaving the old name of the Hudson's Bay Company, and Edmonton once more became a frontier post, the most important trading centre in the whole Saskatchewan River. The post was rebuilt in 1822 and 1823 by Chief Factor James Astley, and the fort was known as the West Edmonton, in Howand's day, and was a frontier post of the Middle Ages. It was enclosed by a high stockade made of split logs, timber being scarce, and each corner stout bastions rose with loopholes for defense, in case of Indian attack. The fort was a large house, was known as the West Edmonton, and the most pretentious building west of the Rockies. In addition there were the usual buildings, including a bay post-office, quarters for war parties, granaries, warehouse, stables, granaries, and powder houses."

While the Eskimos are unlucky in losing the services of Gabe Earl Robertson for tonight's game here against Vancouver Lions, they are fortunate in having the ability to secure a netminder of the calibre of Red McCusker to replace him for the evening. . . . McCusker is one of the most resourceful goalies in front of that pack all last season and this is one of the chief factors in their success again this winter. . . . He is a smart goal guardian who seldom lets his team down, anything that gets past him is worth a goal in any company.

Eskimos' leg was injured last Wednesday in the game against Seattle but he thought little of it until late in Friday's clash with the same club when a quick move to stop shot took the ligament he had been nursing. . . . He was placed under the doctor's care and will be ready for their next game on Saturday of this week.

Incidentally, it will seem strange to see Olie Reichard lined up against the Eskimos. . . . He had been out of action with an injury to his knee but has come in shape for this contest and will be playing against his old mate of the local squad. . . . He was a popular performer with the Eskimos and will get a real hand if he's ready to play tonight.

The potent power of Edmonton Athletic Club junior hockey team was really unleashed for the first time yesterday when Coach Dan Carrigan's young array of punchers, drivers and flyers won an 8-0 victory over the south-side. . . . Superb playmaking and finish-inside their opponents' blue line was the biggest factor in turning the victory their way, for the boys were forced to execute their plays whenever opportunity offered.

Quite a race down the stretch lines in the senior hockey circuit as a result of Crescents' win over Varsity on Saturday. . . . That burst bunches three of the teams with a single point of margin each, while the other two points further in front. . . . Which will make quite a battle for the playoff berths. . . .

Rabbit Reigh, who used to delight Edmonton hockey fans with his jack-rabbit style as a member of Regina Caps in the old days, has joined the Crescents group with New York Americans to stay in the N.H.L. despite advancing years. . . . Last night, the little veteran scored three goals and helped in another single-handed. . . .

Stave Off Late Challenge by Student Sextet to Win by 5-4

Holding off a determined bid from the University of Alberta squad in the closing period, Waterloo Crescents won their first Senior Amateur Hockey League victory of the season at Waterloo Saturday night by a score of 5-4.

Down three goals midway through the final frame, the student sextet staged a rally that netted one pair of markers and a third-period goal that would give them a lift, but the stubborn Crescents refused to be beaten and held on to the advantage that gets past him is worth a goal in any company.
